Open Letter To The Taxpayers

BY MIKE FLANAGAN
Editor of The Lion Roar

McKinney came through. Not for one minute was there ever any doubt in our minds but that the Bond Issue would pass. When the chips were down, you as a citizen of McKinney, realized that you had to do something—and you did.

When you voted, you knew that a new building would cost money. By voting for the bond issue, you showed a new part of your personality—an unselfish part. We would like to look upon that vote as a vote of confidence in the young people of today—the citizens of tomorrow.

As seniors and juniors, we cannot say that we will take care of the new building, but we can speak for the rest of High School and say, "We will do everything possible to treat the new building with care." Perhaps, in that way, we can show our appreciation to you, as taxpayers, for the beautiful proposed building.

In what other way can we show our appreciation to you? By saying a sincere and hearty "Thank You" to the citizens of a town of which we are proud to be a part.

House Recesses As 'Mr. X' Is Mystery

★ ★ ★

By O. B. LLOYD JR.
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP).—A House investigation was recessed dramatically Monday night before the head of the defunct insurance company could name the "Mr. X" who received $700-a-month payments "to influence decisions."

James G. Cage, president of the bankrupt ICT Insurance Co. of Dallas, told the investigating committee of the mysterious payments, but Chairman Scott McDonald of Fort Worth recessed the hearing before Cage could name the recipient.

However, a source close to the committee which is investigating the ICT Insurance Co. said the $700 was paid monthly "for more than a year" — starting in 1955—to a relative of a former high state official.

"Appointive or elective official?" the source was asked.

"Appointive," he replied.

◆ ◆ ◆

More Time Needed.

Recess was called at the suggestion of Joe Carroll, an assistant attorney general, who conducted most of the committee questioning.

Carroll announced additional time was needed "to complete some active investigation about which Mr. Cage had begun to testify.

Testifying under oath for more than three hours, Cage told the committee that Dallas Judge Robert A. Hall, who managed Gov. Price Daniel's summer campaign in Dallas, received a $40,000 fee for handling a stock transaction between ICT and Pierce Brooks, chairman of the board of the National Life Insurance Co. of Dallas.

He also related how ICT Insurance Co. paid $25,000 a year to an Austin advertising agency that Cage said was affiliated with the AFL.

◆ ◆ ◆

Question Of Worth.

The advertising agency of Austin was paid the money in monthly sums of $2,083.33, Cage said. He explained that the agency supervised "labor advertising and education of labor people so they would give their business to the company ICT."

The 42-year-old Cage said the question whether ICT was receiving its money's worth rose, but Jerry Holloman, executive secretary of the Texas State Federation of Labor AFL, and a member of ICT's executive company, insisted that the agency be kept on the payroll.

The testimony of Cage was sketchy on the $700-a-month payment after he was asked if he knew of any "political payments."

The money was used, Cage said, not to influence political campaigns, but rather "decisions in public office." That was his presumption, he added.

"I have reason to believe the money was spent as such," he said.

Further Improvements Planned To Make VA Hospital Here Permanent

★ ★ ★

WASHINGTON — The Veterans Administration is ready to go ahead "almost immediately" with further improvements to make its McKinney, Texas, hospital a permanent installation, according to recent testimony before the House Appropriations Committee which was made public Monday.

R. M. Edgar, assistant VA administrator for construction, told the committee that the department of medicine and surgery already had submitted its detailed requirements for making the McKinney hospital a "continuing operation," and that these proposals had been set to the Bureau of the Budget.

If approval is obtained at the bureau, VA is ready to go ahead with further improvements "almost immediately, Edgar said.

These improvements will be in addition to those planned with the $2,000,000 appropriated for McKinney by the last Congress.

"When the condition of this hospital was first discussed, explained VA Administrator Harvey V. Higley, "VA furnished a quick estimate of the amount needed to install a boiler plant, replace windows, floors, roofs, water mains, electric wiring and to provide other urgently needed repairs.

"Although the expenditure of the amount appropriated will accomplish the repairs and alterations necessary at this time, it must be realized that this facility is of semi-permanent, nonfireproof construction, and that such an expenditure will not result in restoration to a condition commensurate with long-term operation," Higley said.

The $2,000,000 will put it in only temporary shape and keep it going while VA studies it and figures out what must be done of a long-range nature, Higley said.

'We are now working on estimated requirements to see what should be done to completely rehabilitate and modernize this hospital for continued operation," he added. "Our consideration will take into account a determination of the total bed needs in the Dallas-McKinney area in relation to the potential demand from veteran patients.

When construction of unit No 1 is completed at Dallas, they said, VA will have 793 beds there, with the planning for the repair and construction program at McKinney based on 308 beds.

Improvements planned for other VA hospitals in Texas include a $613,700 addition to the laundry at Waco scheduled to start in fiscal 1958.

Although VA usually calls for bids to see if it will be more economical to use commercial laundries than to establish their own at VA hospitals, the general policy is to build laundries at neuro-psychiatric hospitals such as Waco because of the therapeutic value to the patients, according to Dr. R. A. Wolford, deputy chief medical director of VA's department of medicine and surgery. A certain number of patients are assigned to work in the laundries as a rehabilitation project, Wolford explained.

Also scheduled for Texas is a $290,900 project to replace three boilers and modernize the utilities at the VA hospital at Kerrville.—Washington Bureau of The Dallas News.

South Texas Hit By Thunderstorms And Heavy Rain

(By United Press)

Thunderstorms accompanied by an inch or more of rain hit scattered areas of South Texas Monday night and rain still was falling today at spots along the Gulf Coast.

A thunderstorm hit Austin Monday night and the Austin weather bureau reported one inch of rain in 13 minutes and hail an inch in diameter.

Another storm southeast of San Antonio Monday night dumped heavy rain and hail the size of golf balls. There was no report of extensive damage from storms Monday night.

The weather bureau altered an area southeast of a line from Laredo to Bryan for severe thunderstorms and hail from 5:30 to 10 p. m. Monday.

Scattered thunderstorms activity was reported over a huge area bounded by Texarkana, Austin, Laredo, Palacious and Lufkin late.

Rain still was falling early today at Galveston, Palacios and Laredo. More showers or rain were forecast for South Texas this afternoon and tonight.

Skies were mostly clear over West and North Texas today, but some dust still limited visibility in these regions. Little change in present conditions was expected through Wednesday.

Official weather bureau rainfall measurements up to 7:30 a. m. today include .95 at Corpus Christi, .92 at Brownsville, .52 at Houston, .46 at Galveston, .42 at Victoria, .24 at Port Arthur, .02 at Texarkana and .01 at Alpine.

Overnight lows ranged from 37 at Dalhart and Lubbock to 64 at Corpus Christi.

President "Ike" Honors Rayburn At Dinner

From Washington comes a report that despite their disagreements, Congressman Sam Rayburn Speaker of the House, was recently sonored by President Eisenhower at a dinner.

The item as it appeared follows:

"WASHINGTON — I this post-honeymoon period, House Speaker Sam Rayburn frequently is found saying unkind things about President Eisenhower's pet programs, but that hasn't affected the old friendship between two fellow Texans.

"When Ike gave the traditional White House dinner in honor of the speaker the other night, he paid Sam an honor no other guests has ever received. Sam and his sister, Mrs. E. Edward Bartley of Bonham, Tex., were invited to the White House before the dinner so they could have a little chat with Ike and Mamie in their second-floor living quarters.

"Then again ignoring precedent Ike asked the speaker and Mrs. Bartley to accompany him and Mamie down in the elevator to the receiving line. Usually the President and First Lady arrive alone in the East Room for such an affair."

Disarmament is like dieting. It's great stuff for the other fellow.

BREAKS RECORD—Teamster chief Dave Beck, right, set an all-time record for number of times one man can say "no comment" in 60 seconds or less. Beck arrived in Seattle, Wash., from trip to Europe and walked briskly to his car some 100 yards from plane ramp. Some 50 newsmen sprinted behind to hear a series of "no comments" from the Teamster boss who is expected to appear before Senate Rackets Committee in Washington later this month. (NEA Telephoto)

Five Candidates File For Trustee

Five candidates have filed for a place on the ballot in the school trustee election for the McKinney Independent School District on April 6. Monday, March 11 at 5 p.m. was the deadline for filing.

Supt. Hailds Pearce announces the candidates are: Ed Veigel, seeking re-election; Capt. Roy F. Hall, Stanley Dennis, Melvin Below and Johnny Blankenship. Veigel was appointed to the board several months ago to fill an unexpired term.

There are two places to be filled in the April election, with two of the member's terms expiring. They are Worley Smith, who is not seeking re-election, and Veigel. There are seven members on the Board. Others, whose terms do not expire this year are: Fred McKinney, J. B. Merriman, Malcolm Wilson, James Redden, and C. E. Winniford.

Blankenship Is Candidate For School Trustee

I have placed my name on the ballot as a candidate for trustee in the April 6th election for only one reason: I have two children in school and believe that all the children of McKinney should be afforded a school system as good as we can provide.

I have lived in Collin County all my life and in McKinney twenty-one years. I am an active worker in the church to which I belong and the organizations in the company where I am employed. I have been an active worker in the Boy Scout program. I have always been interested in the welfare of the youth of our community.

I believe that an elected public servant should represent the people. I believe the people of McKinney want good schools. If elected, I pledge all my efforts will be toward the improvement of our schools.

Band Booster Club To Hold Light Bulb Sale

Bennie Saunders, president of the Band Boosters Club, urges all members to be at the band hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock. At this meeting plans will be completed for the light bulb sale to be conducted in the city next Monday and Tuesday nights, March 18 and 19. Proceeds from the sale will go into the new uniform fund.

There will be some 10 members of the Band Boosters making a canvas of the town, offering for sale sacks containing an assortment of nine light globes. They will sell for $2 for the entire assortment which includes 4, 60-watt globes; 2 75-watt globes; 2 100 watt bulbs and 1, 150-watt bulb.

Mr. Sanders announced that headquarters for the workers will be at the C. P. Horn Appliance Store, and the sale wil be under the chairmanship of Jeff Wharton. The members will visit each home between 6:30 and 8:30 p. m. on the designated nights.

Herring Seeks Action On Senate Election Bill

AUSTIN (UP). — Sen. Charley Herring said he will definitely seek action today on his controversial bill eleminating the special April 2 U. S. Senate telection.

The Austin lawmaker declined to predict what support his proposal will receive from other senators.

"I don't know" he said. "We'll find out when they stand up to be counted on a roll call vote."

Herring's bill would erase the April 2 election and continued Sen. William A. Blakely of Dallas in office as the interim appointee. Blackley would serve out the remainder of Gov. Price Daniel's unexpired Senate term, ending Jan. 1, 1959.

The Senate twice has pigeonholed the Pool bill, a House-approved measure providing for a run-off in the April 2 election in the event no candidate of the field of 22 receives more than 50 per cent of the votes.

Herring said his bill was the one sure way to guarantee continuation of Democratic control in the U. S. Senate, which is now held by the margin of one vote.

A Republican victory in Texas would result in a 48-48 division, but the tie-breaking vote of Vice President Nixon would throw control to the Republicans and topple Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson D-Tex., from his post as majority leader.

Water Safety Committee Meets Thursday Night

Ross Orenduff Jr., chairman of the Water Safety Committee for the Collin County Chapter of the American Red Cross, is calling a meeting for Thursday night, March 14 at 7 o'clock in the First Christian Church.

At this time plans for the swimming program this summer will be made. Chairman Orenduff urges everyone interested in the program to be at the meeting.

Youth Injured In Car-Scooter Collision

Donald Bradley received painful but not serious injuries in a motor-scooter and car collision Monday afternoon. The wreck occurred about 5:30 p.m. at the intersection of the Chambersville and Weston farm roads. Raymond Glen Jones, R-2, McKinney, driver of the car, escaped uninjured but overturned his car in an effort to dodge the scooter which Bradley was riding.

The Bradley boy was taken to the City-County Hospital by the Turrentine-Jackson emergency ambulance.

State Highway Patrolman Dan Nowlin investigated the accident.

LAREDO (UP).—Power generation at Falcon Dam has been resumed for the first time since Jan. 29, Wayne G. Steglin, U. S. project engineer, said Monday.

Mrs. A. J. Allen Heads Community Colthing Closet

The Community Clothing Closet, a project to collect used clothing for underprivileged school children of McKinney, is in progress.

Six local churches thus far are cooperating in the program of collecting the clothing under the general chairmanship of Mrs. A. J. Allen. These cooperating churches are First Methodist, North Side Church of the Nazarene, St. Michael's Catholic, Central Presbyterian, First Presbyterian and First Christian.

The ladies of these churches will collect the clothing the week of April 1 through April 6, which will be taken to the Central War' School, headquarters for the Clothing Closet, from which point they will be distributed by P-TA's of the city.

The purpose of the project is to regularly collect, mend and distribute the clothing.

Mrs. C. E. Winniford and Mrs. Jack Moran are in charge of the collections. The publicity committee is headed by Mrs. Bud Stoddard and Mrs. C. M. Swanner.

All Day Quilting In Benton Home

The Fitzhugh Cemetery Aid will have an all-day quilting party and covered dish luncheon Wednesday in the home of Mrs. W. M. Benton Sr., this city. Ladies are asked to bring thread, cotton and quilt lining.

ISRAEL WARNS EGYPT

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Israel warned Eglpt today that U. N. acceptance of an Egyptian governor in the Gaza Strip would be regarded by Israel as a breach of its withdrawal agreement.

Egypt announced Monday it has named Maj. Gen. Hassan Abdel Latif as administrative governor of Gaza and ordered him to take up his duties immediately.

Moshe Leshem, official spokesman for the Israeli foreign office, indicated in Jesusalem the entrance of Latif would free Israel of its obligations to pull Israeli soldiers out of Egyptian territory.

U. N. Assistant Secretary General Ralph Bunche conferred in Cairo with Egyptin officials in an effort to head off an Egyptian take over of the Gaza Strip.

◆ ◆ ◆

Another Crisis.

The Egyptian announcement that it was ready to take over the Gaza Strip from the U. N. Emergency Forces brought a crisis between Egypt and the United Nations and worsened Israeli-Egyptian relations.

It appeared the explosion point would be reached if Egypt sends troops into Gaza.

Jerusalem newspaper warned that the Israeli government may have to take "drastic action" if the Egyptians return and unleash Fedayeen commandoes to attack Israel.

A London newspaper summed up the Israeli - Egyptian difference in a four - line headline: "Here They Go Again."

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called in his cabinet for urgent consultations on the growing threat of a new Mideast explosion.

◆ ◆ ◆

Peace May Be Short.

Britain feared the uneasy truce on the Israeli - Egyptian border might be shortlived in the face of Egypt's apparent intention to take over the Gaza administration.

Special Election Date Is Set

AUSTIN (UP). — A special election to name a successor to former state representative James E. Cox from Grmies and Montgomery counties will be held April 20.

Gov. Price Daniel announced the date Monday after Attorney General Will Wilson ruled it could not be held April 2, the same date as a special U. S. Senate election.

Cox, of Conroe, is under fire from a special House investigating committee and criminal charges of consenting to accept a $5,000 bribe.

DOWN THE COLLEGE DRAIN

SCRATCH ANY educational forecaster and you'll get a prediction that the country's colleges tomorrow will be bulging to the doors.

The schools are loaded right now.

But one thing we don't hear much about is that more than 50 per cent of the students who enroll in our colleges quit school sooner or later without getting a diploma. A high percentage of the drop-outs are freshmen.

A new book by Agatha Townsend, "College Freshmen Speak Out," aproaches the program from the students' viewpoint.

Some of the difficulties they list ought to lend themselves easily to remedy.

A good many colleges aren't careful enough in detailing what they have to offer, what their atmosphere is like, and son on. And thousands of students don't try hard enough to find the place that fits their needs.

Above and beyond these things, however, is the astonishing fact that countless students are poorly prepared for college work.

They themselves acknowledge that too often they haven't mastered the simplest study skills: how to read, use a library, write creditably, and organize ideas into useful patterns.

They blame the high schools which they insist don't drill these lessons home. Evidently they feel, too, that they don't get enough chance to develop the initiative required to meet heavier college demands.

More than a few educators seem to share the conviction that high school work frequently is poor preparation for college in America. And this not only because study skills aren't drummed into students but because some basic subjects like geography and history get slack treatment.

No matter whether he wants to be a philosopher or a chemist or an advertising man, the student needs to be able to hang things on the frame of history and to know the world's map and what it means in terms of people and their ways of life.

Yet not many experts in education place all the blame on inadequate earlier schooling. They also blame the students themselves, and their parents, for the lack of good study discipline and failure to get a good grounding in the fundamental subjects.

A 50 per cent college drop-out rate is pretty strong evidence that something is seriously amiss in our educational life.

Apparently we not only need new buildings to fit tomorrow's students, but students to fit the buildings and what goes on inside.

JCS Kicks Off To UC, Then Everyone Goes Into Huddle

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There's a big diagram that looks like a football gridiron in the middle of the new Benjamin F. Fairless Citizens Committee report to President Eisenhower on foreign aid.

Closer inspection shows that this isn't a football game diagram, however. Of course it wouldn't be, slap dab that way in the middle of a deep-dish government report on foreign aid.

WHAT IT IS is a diagram of near-frustration in government operations. It shows the 37 steps of bureaucratic foreign aid coordination between the President, Congress, Bureau of Budget (BB), National Security Council (NSC), State Department (SD), International Cooperation Administration (ICA), Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS), Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs (ISA), Department of Defense (DD), European, Pacific, Far East and Caribbean Unified Commanders (UC), and the Military Assistance Advisory Groups (MAAG) in various countries, before a U. S. military assistance program can be approved.

The chart shows further that it will take 17 months—from April 1956 to September 1957, to put this military assistance program in operation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958.

The Fairless committee report is extremely critical of all this long-winded paper-passing.

It says: "An excessive number of organizations is engaged in the task of government - wide coordination. There would appear to be too many levels at which attempts at coordination are made."

FOR ANYONE INTERESTED in the complexities of government—and what taxpayers shouldn't be?—it is worth while following how the ball gets kicked back and forth. The initials of all the players are given above. In condensed form—for there isn't space here to give all of the 37 plays—this is the way the game goes:

In April 1956 JCS begins conferring with UC on the military aid program for fiscal year 1958. Later that Month ISA gets guidance on the program from JCS.

In May ISA hands out priority lists. JCS makes comments. They all confer about it in June and ISA then issues buide lines.

In June the MAAG send in lists of what their countries need.

From July to September, ISA adds up MAAG requirements for the U. S. worldwide military aid program. ISA sends to NSC. DD then reviews to see if all the needed supplies are available.

During October, everybody reviews everything again. And in November ISA determines what the program will be.

Price tags are put on every item. BB reviews them for inclusion of the total in the President's budget message.

In January ISA sends everything to ICA for coordination with its non-military, military support program of economic aid.

IN FEBRUARY DD refines the program. In March BB recommends to the President what the 1958 mutual security program should include, in detail.

From March through June, Congressional Foreign and Military Affairs committees and Appropriation committees kick the program around some more. Final approval in June or July. Then the President signs the bill into law.

In August ISA consults with SD, BB and ICA review the programs and apportion money to the various countries.

And by next September, with luck, Army, Navy and Air Force will be ready to begin to let contracts to buy material.

LETTERS FROM... THE PEOPLE

LETTERS FROM PEOPLE .... THE DAILY COURIER-GAZETTE AND WEEKLY DEMOCRAT

Some writers are deploring poor spellers in this age. The time was when spelling was stressed to the neglect of other studies. Proficiency in spelling is a necessity for stenographers, telegraphers, bookkeepers and extensive letter writers, and it should not be totally neglected in others studies. Many damage suits have resulted from the addition or ommission of a single letter. 74 Tex. 331 shows a message: "Meet me immediately with two horses at Buffalo Springs, Bring Shep." As delivered it read: Meet me immediately with two horses at Buffalo Springs. Bring Sheep." That mistake caused a large flock of sheep to be moved at large cost and damage. The company paid it. Her is an amusing mistake in a telegram. Jimmy and Jane had been lovers a a long time, but Jimmy could not muster the courage to ask the important question. He told her his cousin Mary would visit him soon, and he would notify her and they would dine at the Annex hotel. Mary fianally came and Jimmy told the telegrapher to send telegram to Jane thus: Will you meet me and Mary at the annex at one o'clock? The message as delivered read: Will you meet me and marry at the annex at one o'clock. Jane answered: " I sure will. I will bring mother our mutual friend Dora, and you phone papa to be there. Jimmy could not understand why the whole family should come. Just before the appointed hour the guests entered the Hotel. Jane was leading the group. She was dressed like a bride, and she greeted Jimmy with a kiss and her mother placed her hands on Jimmy's shoulders and said: Jimmy you will be good to my little girl won't you? He said yes, but did not understand. Dora spoke up and said "Jimmy," you have started a new style of courting by proposing to your girl by Telegram" Jane cleared things up by saying "I have that telegram and I am going to keep it always. Jimmy looked at the Telegram" and he called a preacher and had the ceremony performed at once. He slipped out and gave the telegrapher. $5. And he said was afraid I made a mistake. You did, but it was a glorious mistake, and made me the happiest man in the world. I am sure they lived happily ever after.

BOX CAR PAYS A VISITOR TO A DINER

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP).—George Vesel bent over to tie a shoelace in the living quarters of the diner he operates — and the next thing he knew he had a box car for company.

Looking up to see fixtures come crashing down, Vesel said he "thought it was an earthquake." He smashed a window, cutting his wrist, and fled in fright. Then he turned to see what had happened.

A diesel locomotive left untended in nearby yards with its engine running had started up, picked up a meat-loaded box-car on the rails a short distance ahead and shunted it through a bumper stop into the rear wall of Vesels diner.

The 58-year-old proprietor, who had just spent $2,000 on the diner to repair damage from a fire, had reason to believe the eatery was jinxed.

Collin "AG" Teachers Sponsor Poultry Meet

The Collin County District of Vocational Agriculture teachers sponsored a panel discussion poultry meeting Thursday night in the community room of the Collin County National bank.

The panel consisted of such outstanding poultry men as J. K. Williams, hatcheryman and breeder and also a former professor from Missouri A&M College. He is now in business in Denison. W. C. Daugherty, 1,000 cage hen layers, of Lavon; John K. McVeigh, Melissa, 2,400 cage hen layers; G. C. Conrad, 4,000 cage hen layers, of Wylie; E. A. Mahard, egg dealer and producer of Prosper; W. L. Wood, 2,000 floor play laying hens, of Allen; Wallis Airhart, egg producer for hatchery, McKinney.

These men led the panel discussion with other poultrymen, bankers, feed dealers and "Ag" teachers of Collin County. It was a new type of meeting for poultrymen but proved a most successful and informative one for all present.

INDIAN BOY RUN OVER TWICE BY AUTO

PRYOR, Mont. (UP). — Sealmer Red Star eight-year-old Crow Indian showed no ill effect after being run over twice by the same car in one day.

Red Star hitched his sled behind a car driven by Fred Bird Hat, also a Crow. Bird Hat, who did not know the boy had hitched on, stopped and backed up. The boy slid off the sled and the rear wheel passed over his body.

Several persons witnessed the accident and began shouting at Red Hat. He thought he was going to back into something so he pulled forward and again the wheel passed over the boy.

Red Star was rushed to the hospital. Although shaken, he was proclaimed in sound condition.

Q's And A's

Q—Where is the nation's highest automobile road?

A—The one that winds up to the 14,260-foot summit of Mount Evans in Colorado. This scientists study cosmic rays in a laboratory.

Q—For how long are the Siamese fighting fish able to battle?

A—Specially bred fighting males often fight continuously, with only brief respites in order to breathe, for as long as three hours, and they keep up for as long as six hours before one of the adversaries finally refused to carry on.

Q—When were airplanes used for the first time in Arctic exploration?

A—The MacMillan expedition in 1925 was the first such expedition to experiment with the use of airplanes in the Far North.

Q—Is Italy a member of the United Nations?

A—Yest, since 1955.

Q—Which was the first animal to be domesticated?

A—The dog. The men of the Middle Stone Age, who wandered through Europe thousands of years ago, tamed dogs to help them hunt down down small game.

NEW YORK (UP). — Spring training, it is evident today as the major league teams go through their warmup paces, make for strange bedfellows and dreams which often turn into nightmares.

Take the camps of the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Milwaukee Braves. One is on Florida's east coast and the other on the west coast, separated by a few miles of pines and orange groves.

But to three players they must seem a million miles in the past.

At the Braves camp in Bradenton, there are a pair of room mates named Bobby Thomson and Andy Pafko. That's the same Thomson whose home run gave the New York Giants the 1951 National League pennant in a movie script playoff against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

• • •

Pafko Watched It Sail.

The other is the same Pafko who stood in left field for the Dodgers that afternoon and disconsolately watched the ball sail over his head and into the stands.

Room mates now.

And just across the state, the man who pitched the ball which Thomson hit over Pafko's head—a fellow named Ralph Branca—is wearing the Dodger again and dreaming of a comeback.

Branca hasn't been a pitcher since Thomson slugged that ball. It's open to debate whether it was that blast or bad breaks which ruined him.

Big Ralph had been a good one until then. He was a 21-game winner in 1947 and one of the workhorses of the Dodgers that 1951 season when Thomson's home run broke the Dodgers' hearts. Since then the six-foot, three-inch Branca has been lost, pitching little over the past five years and practically none for the last two.

He'll tell you that a chair slid out from under him in the spring of 1952 and he hurt his back. Some insist that Thomson's bat moved the furniture.

• • •

Down The Ladder.

Whichever is so, Branca had a record of only four wins against two defeats in 1952. Then began a pilgramage down the ladder—Detroit, the Yankees and Minneapolis—as he scored but one win in 1953 and had a three-and-three mark in 1954 before Minneapolis gave up on him.

He came out of retirement last summer to pitch batting practice and looked so good that Brooklyn signed him. They used him only once, being involved in a heated pennant race and remembering the past. But big Ralph is back this spring.

"I'm throwing as hard as as I did in 1951," he says. "I think I can make it."

The Dodgers are watching. So, too, must be the room mates across the state.

TODAY'S . . .
SPORTRAIT

By JACK WILLOGHBY

LAREDO, Tex. (UP). — Lithe Bobby Morrow, the world's fastest human, said Monday that if a sprinter can learn to 'relax without getting lazy" he will have found the real secret of swiftness.

Morrow, who flashed to victories in the 100 and 200-yard dashes in the Border Olympics here last Saturday — his first competitive start since winning three Olympic gold medals at Melbourne, and he believed relaxing immediately before a race helps him more than any other single thing.

"If a man's mind gets tense," Morrow said "his muscles are going to tighten up. And tight muscles will slow you down."

Morrow said that he thinks a man with born speed will never realize his potential unless he's willing to work hard.

• • •

Sprinters Born.

"Sprinters are born—not made" Morrow said. "But, a lot of men with inherent speed never become champions because they aren't willing to put out the effort."

Morrow, who won both the 100 and 200 meter dashes and anchored the world record breaking U. S. spring relay team in Melbourne to become the first triple winner since Jesse Owens, lay on a blanket and calmly chatted with his teammates before he won individual scoring honors in the Border Olympics.

The six foot, one inch, 165-pound sprinter said he "had no idea what he wants to do when he graduates from Abilene Christian College, but previously he has maintained that he intended to return to his farm home in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and become a farmer.

"I'll go into service right out of college", Morrow said. "I don't think I want to coach when I get out of service. I'll just wait and see what turns up."

• • •

Owns Farm.

Actually the handsome 21-year-old Morrow already owns a spread of several hundred acres of cotton and carrot land in the semi-tropical valley along the Mexican border. He has expressed a love of farming and seems destined to return there when his schooling and Armed Services tour are over. He is married to his schooldays sweetheart and both are attending Abilene Christian now.

Morrow said he would advise youngsters who want to be track stars to "run every chance you get."

"A person will never know if he's a born sprinter until he sees just how fast he can run" Morrow said.

With very creditable 9.5 and 20.2 timings in his sepcialties last week end, Morrow will be in action nearly every week end from now through the Uational AAU championships June 28-29 in Dayton Ohio. His next start will be in the Southwestern Recreation meet in Fort Worth, next Saturday.

North Carolina Voted National College Champs

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP). — North Carolina's "Yankee Tar Heels" who carry a spoetless 27-0 record into the NCAA tournament this week, were voted the national college basketball champions for the 1956-57 regular season today by the United Press Board of Coaches.

In their final ballot of the season, the 35 outstanding coaches whose ratings generally have become accepted as the most authoritative in the game selected North Carolina for the honors over twice-beaten Kansas.

Twenty-six members of the United Press rating board voted the Tar Heels tops in the country, eight picked them second and one fourth. That gave coach-of-the-year Frank McGuire's men 339 out of a possible 350 points.

• • •

Award on TV.

McGuire will receive the United Press championship trophy for his team on Ed Sullivan's nationally-televised CBS program next Sunday night.

Kansas 21-2, the Big Seven championship which is favored to win the western NCAA playoffs, was runnerup in the final ratings with 309 points; Kentucky's Southeastern Conference champs 22-4 were third and Southern Methodist 21-3, the Southwest Conference championship, was fourth. All are in the NCAA tournament.

Seattle, bound for the National Invitation Tournament with a 22-2 record, was fifth, followed in order by California 20-4, Michigan State 14-8 and Louisville 21-5. St. Louis 19-7 and UCLA 22-4 tied for ninth.

• • •

80 Point Game Average.

North Carolina, with a squad that included nine players from the New York area imported to Dixie by Brooklyn-born McGuire, proved an exceptionally pressure-proof team. In sweeping through an undefeated season, the Tar Heels played only nine games on their home court at Chapel Hill, N. C.

The 80-point-per-game average compiled by North Carolina this season was not high, compared with other teams. But the Tar Heels' 65-point defensive average was enough to put them on the long end of the score in every game. All American Len Rosenbluth and his teammates proved standout "clutch" players in the close games.

The coaches, in preseason selections, accurately predicted five of the teams which eventually finished among the top 10. Kentucky pulled a big surprise by finishing third after winding up in 14th in the pre-season ratings. Seattle also surprised the experts, placing fifth after being rated 39th before the campaign began. San Francisco wound up 21st after topping the final ratings the past two years.

Chas. Ledbetter On Texas U. Diving Team

Charles Ledbetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Ledbetter of this city, has been awarded third place on the diving team at Texas University. Charles, a freshman in the University, won second place in the events with A&M College about a month ago.

Winners in the past week-end events were Lee Griffin of Texas U., first; Guy Marcus of SMU, second, and Ledbetter, third, who was only two-tenths of a point under Marcus.

Ledbetter, a graduate of Boyd High School in June, 1956, was active in all school events, as well as Boy Scout work here. He holds a Life Saving Certificate and was formerly Life Guard at the Jaycee Pool here. He is a pre-med student in Texas University.

BIG LEAGUE . . .
BASEBALL

(By United Press)

Stan Musial sports a .571 spring batting average today as proof he'll be swinging the big stick in the St. Louis Cardinals' pennant bid.

Usually a slow starter, the 26-year-old Musial has smashed four hits in seven trips to the plate in Grapefruit League competition and Monday walloped his second two-run homer in as many games. The blow climaxed the three-run Redbird uprising in the sixth inning and produced a 4-3 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves.

The world champion New York Yankees got three - hit pitching from Ralph Terry, Tom Sturdivant and Jack Urban to hand the Boston Red Sox their third straight loss 2-0. Sturdivant, a 16-game winner last season, yielded all three Boston hits in the middle three frames.

The Pittsburgh Pirates made it three straight victories when Danny Kravitz' single with the bases filled and one out in the ninth inning gave them a 3-2 decision over the Washington Senators. Rookie outfielder Al Griggs had three hits for the Pirates and Frank Thomas and Bob Skinner each weighed in with a key single.

Strikeout king Herb Score turned in a sparkling one-hit effort for three innings as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 5-1. The Indians had an easy time, collecting eight hits and nine walks off a succession of young Baltimore pitchers.

Rookie Andre Rogers, the sensation of the New York Giants' Pheonix, Ariz., camp walloped a two-run triple in the ninth inning to clinch a 7-4 verdict over the Chicago Cubs.

Don Hoak collected three singles and a walk to lead the Cincinnati Redlegs to a 4-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. Robin Robnings for the Phillies in his spring debut. Rip Repulski and Ted Kazanski walloped homers for Philadelphia.

Jim Wilson, Roger Howard and Dick Donovan yielded only four hits in pitching the Chicago White Sox to a 1-0 win over the Brooklyn Dodgers in a night game at Miami. The White Sox made only two hits.

"Big Poison" And "Little Poison" On All-Conference

By LYLE SCHWILLING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (UP).—Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas and Gary Thompson of Iowa State, the "Big Poison" and "Little Poison" respectively of the Big Seven, were named unanimously to the 1957 United Press All-conference basketball team.

Chamberlain, a seven-foot All-American sophomore, and Thompson, a 5-10 senior guard who made the United Press All-America second team, battled closely for the "Player of the Year" award, with Thompson getting the honor by a slight margin.

Another sophomore, 6-7 forward Bob Boozer of Kansas State, drew the third highest number of all-star votes. His 6-9 teammate, center Jack Parr, was named to a forward post after making way for Chamberlain at center. Lionel Smith of Missouri was named the other guard.

• • •

Elstun On Second.

Although Kansas, the championship club, placed only Chamberlain on the all-star team, seniors Gene Elstun and Maurice King of Kansas were named to the second squad. Center Joe King of Oklahoma, Lyle Fram of Iowa State and Dave Mowbray of Colorado also were named to the second team.

Besides Chamberlain and Boozer, three other sophomores drew considerable attention in the balloting although they did not make either squad. They were Don Loneski of Kansas, Don Schwall of Oklahoma and Sonny Siebert of Missouri.

Russell Sox Walseth of Colorado was named "Coach of the Year" in a race with Dick Harp of Kansas. Walseth, one balloter said, "wasn't supposed to have anything but came up with a contender." Both Harp and Walseth were in their first seasons as head coaches in the Big Seven.

• • •

Parrack On Ballots.

Coach Bill Strannigan of Iowa State, Tex Winter of Kansas State and Doyle Parrack of Oklahoma also drew ballots as Coach of the Year.

Thompson, Chamberlain and Boozer were named on every ballot, but Boozer got five second team votes. Boozer, of Omaha, Neb., is nearly a carbon copy of Chamberlain except he's five inches shorter. He starred season long for the Wildcats and even took over the post while Parr was out with the flu.

Thompson, who has been rated "inch for inch" probably the best player in the Big Seven, also was named to the squad last year as was Parr. King of Kansas made the first team a year ago but was dumped off by Smith this time.

"A Lot Tougher" To Win Triple Crown--Mantle

By MILTON RICHMAN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., (UP) — Mickey Mantle, admitting his knee still feels "a little weak," said it probably will be "a lot tougher" for him to win the American League's triple crown this year than it was last.

Mantle, who swept the three big batting titles last season with a .353 average, 52 homers and 130 runs batted in, said he isn't especially worried about his right knee which has troubled him throughout his career. But he continues to wear a special elastic band over it was a precautionary measure.

"They way I look at things this year," said the Yankee centerfielder, removing the band following a game, "I think Ted Williams has a good chance of winning one or more of the titles I got last year.

• • •

Other Good Hitters.

"Don't forget fellows like Harvery Kuenn, Al Kaline and Yogi Berra, either. All of 'em are great hitters and each has a chance at a couple of those titles."

If there is anything radically wrong with Mantle's knee there seems to be no evidence of it in his spring performance so far. He is belting the ball as well as ever, running as hard as ever and concentrating more than usual on bunting.

"I think the knee will get stronger as I go along," he said, taking huge gulps from a container of milk. "Sometimes, the more running I do on it, the better it seems to feel."

Mantle is still aiming to cut down on his strikeout total, a project he has been working at with only mediere success during the past two years.

• • •

Still Fanning.

"I go pretty good for awhile on that strikeout business," he said, flinging the empty container into a nearby sandbox, "and then all of a sudden I begin swinging too hard again. The only way I can explain it is that I just forget myself even though I keep trying to remember the strike zone."

Casey Stengel isn't the least bit worried about his star slugger, who wound up the most valuable player in the league last season.

"He's a much smarter ball player today than he was three years ago," Stengel pointed out. "He ain't going for half as many bad pitches as he used to. 'Course he still goes fishin' once in awhile but before he's through in this game it may be impossible ever to fool him."

Sports Show Opens At Fair Park March 22

The ninth annual Southwest Sports, Boat and Vacation Show will be presented in Dallas March 22 through 31 in the huge Automobile Building at State Fair Park.

The Sports Show is actually four shows in one - a dazzling 90-minute stage and acquatic revue, the exhibits of outdoor sports equipment, the boats and motorsh show, and the travel and vacation section. It is one of the "top five" shows of its type in America.

The stage-and-pool revue is designed to appeal to the entire family and feautres a star-studded array of bigtime television, circus and theater acts, plus the ever-popular Canadian lumberjacks at their favorite log-rolling and canoe-tilting sports.

Shows will be presented nightly except Sundays, with matinees daily except on the opening day. Two matinees are scheduled on Sundays.

Added attractions include a fishing pond stocked with rainbow trout where visitors can wet a hook and keep what they catch, and an exhibit of live birds, animals, fish and reptiles by the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Bobby Layne Inks Contract

DALLAS (UP). — Bobby Lane, who led the National Professional Football League in scoring last year with 99 points, signed a two year contract with the Detroit Lions today for about $20,000 per year.

Layne, the Lion quarterback, who played high school football in Dallas but now lives in Lubbock signed the contract in the suite of Lion General Manager Nick Kerbawy at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Kerbawy said Layne's salary was in the neighborhood of $20,000 "making him the highest paid player in the league, and right-fully so."

The ex-University of Texas star will be starting his 10th year in professional football.

West Ward Pupils Give School Program

The special open house program at West Ward School last Thursday night was one of the most successful presented during the years which public school week has been bserved in McKinney schools.

The PTA of West Ward sponsored the special program presentation with the teachers in the various grades, arranging features and parts for the presentation. The program, pesented by the pupils of West Wad was based on "Texas Under Six Flags."

Mrs. B. B. Spurgin, president of PTA of West Ward, served as chairman, introducing the program and those who assisted in presenting the program. Dean Bennet, principal of West Ward made the welcome address. Earl Prater, minister of Davis Street Church of Christ gave the invocation. Mrs. Malcolm Wilson was pianist for the program. Bob Hardwick, student of West Ward was master of ceremonies and was outstanding in his manner of handling the presentation of various parts enjoyed by the audience which packed the large auditorium. It is estimated that more than two thousand people visited the school Thursday evening.

The PTA dispensed with their own program for the evening, in order to give the full evening to the pupils in their presentation of "Texas Under Six Flags." Officers of West Ward PTA and the school faculty extend their sincere appreciation for the interest and cooperation of school patrons and the public during public school week.

Charles Dowell, Miss Reddell In "Who's Who"

Charles P. (Chuck) Dowell and Shirley Reddell of McKinney were among the 24 outstanding students at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth named to the "Who's Who" section for the 1957 Horned Frog, the yearbook to be distributed in May.

The honorees were nominated by a vote of the faculty from a slate of 53.

They were chosen on a basis of scholarship, personal integrity and extra-curricular activities. All have a 2.0 (B) grade average or higher.

The "Who's Who" section will consist of eight pages with the pictures and biographies of three students on each page.

Dowell, a junior major in mathematics, has been active in many phases of student life at TCU. He is a member of the Independent Student Association, the Press Club and this year is editor of the "Horned Frog."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs C. E. Dowell, 710 W. Lamar, and is a graduate of Boyd high in McKinney.

Miss Reddell is a senior major in English. She is president of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, an ROTC sponsor, member of Los Hidalgos, Leti, Froggettes, DSF, Sigma Tau Delta and Alpha Chi, the national honor society.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Gene Reddell, Route 4, McKinney and also graduated from Boyd High.

Other outstanding students honored by selection to "Who's Who" included Jimmy Swink, Rusk; Joe Williams, Greenville; John Nikkel, Dalhart; Barbara Alford, Center, Joan Leatherman, Ennis; Joe Latham, Breckenridge; Carolyn Falgeau, Bryan; Barbara Sullivan, Corpus Christi; Reuben Fechner, Taylor; Dusky Sodders, Ennis;

Dale Edmonds, Ronald Coleman, Joann Kirkpatrick, Jo Ann York all of Dallas; Carol Melton, Jerry Moore, Jim Hendricks, Jane Reddell, Lois Ann Galloway, Alice Buford, Dave Brow, Jerry Williams all of Fort Worth.

The group makes up the top leaders in scholarship, athletics and other activities on campus.

The Ground Observer Corps will have an alert Sunday, March 17 at the local observer post, Newsome Stadium, from 1 to 5 p.m. All members are urged to be on duty at their specified time.

Mexican Dinner Open To Public Friday Night

A Mexican dinner will be served in the Fellowship Hall of the East Christian Church Friday evening by the ladies of the church. All home-made foods, will be served. The menu will consist of tamales with chili, torillas, Spanish rice, fried beans, salad, coffee and pie, all for $1 per plate.

The ladies will begin serving at 5 p.m. and invite the general public to call by and eat with them.

Hudson Circle Meets In Anderson Home

Miss Fletcher Anderson and her mother, Mrs. Ida Anderson, were hostesses to the Hudson Circle No. 8 of the First Baptist Church, March 4 for a business meeting and Royal Service program.

The chairman, Mrs. Sam Wysong, called the meeting to order. Mrs. A. J. Press led in prayer. Minutes were read and approved.

Mrs. R. D. Thurston gave the treasurer's report after which Mrs. Graves DeArmond, program chairman, turned the meeting over to Miss Norma Sportsman, leader for the Royal Service program. Miss Ethel Russell read the Scripture, followed by talks by Miss Sportsman, Mrs. Sam Wysong and Mrs. Melba Davenport.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Bertha Parker. During the social hour the hostesses passed coffee and cake to 19 members.

Large Crowd Attends Wetanka Style Show

The West Ward School auditorium was filled with an appreciative audience for the teen-age fashion show presented Friday evening by the Wetanka Camp Fire Girls.

The stage, was attractively decorated in wrought iron furniture, with a vine-covered screen as the background, and an archway throughout the models entered.

Mrs. Lurline Daspit, commentator, expressed appreciation of the Wetanka girls and their leaders. Mrs. Tommy Benningfield and Mrs. Fanelle Sproles, to all merchants, and everyone else assisting in the show.

Mrs. Malcolm Wilson was the piano accompanist as the models promenaded across the state. At intermissions special entertainment was a girl's trio, composed of Misses Barbara Randles, Beth Finney and Sonja Pickett, with Jan Long at the piano; and songs and piano numbers by Nancy and Leonard Wattley, local colored children.

The members of the Wetanka Camp Fire Group were models for the show, appearing in school dresses, sportswear, Easter clothes with accessories, and party frocks. The models were: Dawn Sproles, Diann Benningfield, Judy Daspit, Helen Rattan, Bonnie Pate, Linda Christopher, Kate Colling, Rita Chambers, Jeanette Noles, Barbara Post, and Elizabeth Cave.

Participating merchants were McKinney Dry Goods Company, Carr's, Naomi's, Lucille's Dress Shop, J. C. Penney Company, Franklin's, The Style Shop, and Julia's. Make-up was directed by Mrs. John Gastrock of the McKinney Drug. Reneau's decorated the stage.

Art Club Hears Program On Music

"What's New in Music" was the subject of Mrs. George German who spoke to the Art Club Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. D. Thurston. Mrs. German, president of second district, Texas Federation of Music Clubs, was introduced by Mrs. Sy Gostin, program chairman.

Mrs. German, first mentioned recent musical events of interest in Dallas where she lives. James Mathis, a talented young pianist and award winner, played recently; the lyric opera is well worth a visit; the district festivals were held this week.

The speaker then discussed the new music that is developing in Europe and the United States; composers and how they work, and Texas regional and other American composers. Illustrating some of her points she played the piano composition "Pavanne" by Morton Gould and "Chess" song with words by Lewis Weil, an SMU student, and music by John Lazich who won the second prize in the Young Composers contest held by the Dallas Federation of Music Clubs.

Her talk was greatly enjoyed by club members and the following guests: Mrs. John Hooper, Mrs. Ed Lewin, Mrs. Charles Ray, Miss Beverly Ray, Mrs. George McCoy, Mrs. Melba Davenport.

Mrs. Thurston served a delicious salad plate and used artistic arrangements of Japonica throughout the entertainment suite. A miniature piano on the buffet and miniature violins, framed in a shadow box, were delightful additions to the afternoon of music in the club's study of "Art in Today's Living."

The guests were also interested in an antique organ and in Mr. Thurston's collection of violins and violas which he makes as a hobby.

NEWS FROM HOLLYWOOD

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP). — Lori Nelson, movieland's kid sister, jumped the compound fence this month and shocked her friends by posing in the near nude for one of those girlie magazines for men.

Until the magazine was published Lori was considered the sweet-faced "girl next door" who grew up under foot at Universal-International studios. She wasn't allowed to play a part that required her to smoke or drink.

The blonde charmer, now a full-some 23 yeas old, began her acting career at 16. Big and little people at the studioes find it difficult to believe she's still not sweet 16.

"When I went to Universal I was going to high school and still had bands on my teeth" Lori laughed.

"I was the youngest girl signed by the studio since Deanna Durbin. Everyone treated me like a baby. A few times they even bought me lollypops."

Lori sipped a pre-lunch cocktail and shook her head.

"I wanted to be an adult like other acresses on the lot" she said. "It was disconcerting when they'd pat me on the had. Maybe it was because I'd walk into the commissary for lunch carrying my school books under my arm.

"The fact that I wore my hair tied up in a ribbon, Dolly Daydream style, helped create the illusion that I was still a child."

Her first movie was "Ma and Pa Kettle at the Fair" in which Lori played the daughter of Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride. Since then she's portrayed sweet young things in 17 pictures.

"All the producers and directors were careful to cast me as an innocent, wide - eyed girl" Lori fumed. "They never thought of me for heavy dramatic roles — much less sexy parts.

"Well, I hope this magzine layout jolts them into the realization that I'm a big girl now.

"I don't want to go the Jayne Mansfield route splashing sex around like it might be going out of style. All I want to do is convince this town that I've grown up, and I'm old enough to play mature women."

Lori may be old enough to play these roles, but she's still a mite, weighing only 98 pounds. Her blue eyes snap with impatience when she's reminded she could still pass for a bobby-soxer.

"That is exactly why I posed for those pictures" Lori concluded. "Once people see them they'll know for sure that I'm not a baby anymore."

Schedule Of FFA Events Is Announced

The McKinney Future Farmers have a busy schedule for the new few weeks. On March 15 they will participate in the Ford Tractor contest sponsored by the Lewis Fry Tractor company here. Other events forthcoming are:

March 28—Father and son banquet.

April 6—Area judging contests.

April 12—Project show.

April 9—Program for Kiwanis Club.

The FFA boys are also starting shop work in woodwork and metal work. The GI School is furnishing the power tools and the Future Farmers are furnishing their own hand tools.

FTC Conducting Secret Probe Of Coffee Prices

By NEIL MACNEIL
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Federal Trade Commission has been conducting a secret investigation of coffee prices for the past four months, it was disclosed today.

FTC attorneys have been quietly looking into operations on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange and have subpenaed 68 of "the principal members of the exchange."

This was revealed to a House Appropriations subcommittee by FTC investigator Harry A. Babcock at a closed-door session March 4.

• • •

No Firm Named.

Babcock's testimony was made public today but details of what action the FTC intends to take were stricken from the printed record.

Babcock said his responsibility was to investigate "an alleged law violation." He did not indicate what the violation was or who was involved.

Babcock said his agents are prepared to teil FTC members the results of their investigation. The FTC, a law enforcement agency, polices manufacturers' advertising claims and helps guard against restraint of trade.

• • •

Santos Cuts Price.

Babcock told the subcommittee the best grades of coffee now cost housewives abount $1.15 a pound compared with a $1.39 top three years ago during the coffee shortage.

Simon N. Whitney, director of the FTC's Bureau of Economics, testified that Santos Coffee — one of the principal types — has decreased its wholesale price from 95 cents a pound to 60 cents during the three-year period.

Babcock said the FTC has kept an eye on coffee operations since its investigation of the coffee market in 1954. The FTC claimed that investigation knocked the price down sharply.

BACKSTAIRS AT THE . . . WHITE HOUSE

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP). — Backstairs at the White House:

Friends of President Eisenhower some of them, at least feel that too much has been made of the Chief Executive's cold, cought and inflmaed earl canal in print and over the air.

At a GOP party last week for Leonard W. Hall, the former Republican National Chairman, several of the guests took a look at the smiling President who was sharing honorh with Hall, then proceeded to berate some of the correspondents present for "making the President out to be a sick man."

One Republican leader told this reporter:

"I don't want to get in any public quarrel with you fellows, but why pound day after day on the President's cold? Why create the impression that he's in serious shape when actually he's suffering from the same thing that hits just about every family this time of year?

"Heck, you've got a cold; I've got a cold. Do we make a production of it? No, but just let the President sniffle and the papers and television have him on the way to the hospital."

This is a spacious argument. When there is anything wrong with the President, however minor, it deserves and attracts public attpress secretary, James C. Hagerty, realizes this and makes every effort to keep the reporters fully infomed on the President's health.

If a reporter has a cold, no one cares outside of his family or his employer. But when the President is ailing, it is a matter of national and even international importance.

No responsble medium of inforformation has had the President "on the way to the hospital" in connection with his current, annoying ailment. If there had been any inaccurate reporting on the President's health, Hagerty would have been among the first to spot it — and would have yelled bloody murder.

Unattractive as it may be, there also remains the fact that because within a year Mr. Eisenhower suffered two major illnesses — heart attack and ileitis — minor variations in his health today attract more than usual attention.

When Hagerty disclosed that the President probably would go to Florida this week for five or six days of sun and golf, the White House telephones began to peal like a Dutch carrillon.

A lot of the calls came from Key West where Mr. Eisenhower vacationed in January, 1956. The people of Key West could have saved the long distance tolls, however, because the White House said Key West definitely was not under consideration for the President this trip.

Mr. Eisenhower wants to set up headquarters at a military installation or the private home of a friend in South Florida, preferably near a good golf course. He intends to spend five or six days in the Sunshine State before he flys to Bermuda for his conference with Prime Minister Harold MacMillan of Great Britain.

CHEWING THE QUID . . . With DOC QUIGG

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP). — The man who has headed up the American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Feet for the last seven years confessed today that other people's feet are still killing him.

"I been looking at feet for 40 years and putting shoes on 'em and I've seen some terrible things' said George Fitzgerald. "Women with bunions. People with toes on top of each other.

"We have societies on eyesight and preservation and for prevention of cruelty to children and to animals, so why not talk about feet? People are suffering. They're walking around on three cylinders instead of six. They got pains all over the body, and lots of times the cause is feet — the foundation.

"Ninety per cent of foot trouble is shoe trouble. If they ever fitted glasses the way they fit shoes, half the people would be blind. You have to have a license to put shoes on a horse in New York state, but anybody can sell shoes to a human being.

"What does a woman do the first thing she gets in the house, even before she takes her hat off? She says 'my feet are killing me' and she takes off her shoes, gets the old dogs out of their torture chambers."

Fitzgerald and his partner in the Brooklyn shoe firm of Palter and Fitzgerald started the ASPCF to try to educate the public in the care and good grooming of feet. They had lectures by experts every Wednesday night in their shop. However the lectures have been dropped during the last three years.

Their idea is that sore feet make soreheads, and that a lot of the world's troubles would vanish if people took that load of hurt off their feet.

Army Recruiter Visits Postoffice Here On Fridays

Sgt. T. L. Lane, of the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Sherman visits in McKinney each Friday, where he will talk with Collin County boys interested in enlisting in the army. Young men who fail to meet Sgt. James here may call at the office in Sherman which is now located at 114 East Lamar Street, this city. His headquarters was formerly located at 313 E. Pecan Street, Sherman.

Sgt. James submits the following information which may be of interest to young men, interested in enlisting:

• • •

Section 262.

1. A qualified young man from 17 to 18½ years of age may now enlist in the Army Reserve for eight (8) years; undergo six months active duty to rtraining at a regular army post and be deferred from the Draft as long as he is satisfactorily participating in the Reserve training program during his enlistment of 7½ years in the Ready Reserve.

2. High School students will defer the six (6) months active duty until they graduate or become 20 years of age, whichever happens first.

3. Young men going into this program after 1 April 1957 will change from an eight (8) year obligation active to an eight (8) year program. At that time the young man will serve 6 months active duty, 4½ years in the Ready Reserve and 3 years in the Standby.

4. A man will normally be called to Active Duty from 30 to 60 days, except for men that are still in High School.

• • •

Section 261.

1. A man that is qualified for the Regular Army will also be qualified for this program, with one exception, and that is he may have 3 dependents.

2. Under tthis program he will serve two (2) years Active Duty; two (2) years in the Ready Reserve and two (2) years in the Standby Reserve. Men must have a 1-A Classification or not have been classified.

46 STARS

NORTH EGREMONT, Mass. — (UP). — An American flag with only 46 stars soon will fly from a new flagpole on the village green. The flag was made between 1907, when Oklahoma became the 46th state, and 1912, when New Mexico and then Arizona gained statehood. It was presented to the town by the late Mrs. George Peck.

PICKED WRONG CAR

DENVER (UP). — Eleven-year old Richard Jackson faced with a whipping for naughtiness, decided to hitch-hike to New York. Four miles out Smith Road with 50 cents in his pocket and a 60-pound knapsack, he gratefully accepted a ride from motorist Gordon Dolliver. Dolliver drove him to the Denver County Jail, where Dolliver is warden, and called the worried Jackson parents.

Walter Brennan and Brandon de Wilde return hom from the Bayous after finding "Lady" An African Basenji hound in a scene from Warner Bros. "Good-bye, My Lady" a Batjac production directed by William A. Wellman.

A wonderful love story is promised in "Good-bye, My Lady" a Batjac production from Warner Bros. about an old man, a boy who had to grow up all of a sudden and a strange dog that changed their lives. The film, starring Walter Brennan, Phil Harris and Brandon de Wilde, debuts locally Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre.

"Good-bye, My Lady" is set in the teeming wilderness of the bayou country and concerns the strength and weakness of a crusty old sharecropper, played by Academy Award-winner Walter Brennan, the faith and devotion of a young boy just reaching early manhood and the love of the boy for a lonely little dog. Brandon de Wilde, brilliant young acting discovery of the Broadway stage and remembered for his portrayal in "Shane" is seen as the boy. The strange dog is a Basenji, a rare breed of African hunting dog that doesn't bark but laughs and cries real tears. The Basenji is said to date back to the days of the Pharaohs of Egypt and through they are remarkably devoted pets they are rare in this country.

Dallas Symphony To Play Concerts Coming Week End

Two oustanding concerts will be presented by the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, Walter Hendl conducting, over the coming week-end.

A special popular concert-"Opera Once Over Lightly" will be presented Sunday, March 17, 4 p.m. at State Fair Auditorium; and on Monday, March 18 Jose Iturbi will be the Symphony's guest artist on it's next to last subscription concert at the Auditorium. "Opera Once Over Lightly" with Reuben Bradford as narrator will present a hilarious tongue-in-cheek treatment of operas with vocalists and orchestra performing excerpts from famous operas.

"Opera Once Over Lightly" originally a Dallas radio station presentation. It was picked up by NBC on a coast to coast hook-up and at one time 179 stations were in the national syndicate. Bradford uses his own words, making up some as he goes along to let every body understand whats going on in opera. Who else would tell a story of an opera and refer to a heroine such as Violetta in La Traviata as a "cutie with a cough and no four-way pills."

Monday evening's concert will present Jose Iturbi, who is no strranger to Texas audiences. For his appearance in Dallas, and a repeat of the concert on the last Fort Worth concert of the Dallas Symphony the next night, Iturbi will play the popular Grieg Concerto for piano and orchestra.

Pupils Of Mrs. Smith Rate "Excellent" At Music Festival

Charlsie Tarvin and Rae Ann Cantrell, two of Mrs. S. J. Smith's piano pupils, received ratings of excellent in the Texas Music Clubs Festival in Dallas, Saturday.

The young ladies were accompanied to Dallas by Mrs. Smith and their parents, Mrs. Charles Tarvin and Mr. and Mrs. George Cantrell of Princeton.

No Deadline For Participation In Vet Land Program

There is no deadline for participation in the Veterans' Land Program, Land Commission Earl Rudder said Friday.

"As long as a man is a Texas veteran and money is available to operate the program," Commissioner Rudder added, "he may participate. Of course, a veteran may use the program only one time."

Commissioner Rudder said that his statement was prompted by numerous enquiries that the Veterans' Land Board had received about a time limit.

Taxpayers Urged To Make Last Minute Check Of Returns

Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue of the Dallas District, comes to the "rescue" of harassed taxpayers with a sure fire last minute checklist for that 1956 tax return:

"Did you fill in your social security number?

"Did you attach your W-2, tax withholding form, or forms, to your return?

"Did you doublecheck your arithmetic? and last, but far from least—

"Have you signed your return? Both husband and wife must sign when making joint returns."

Importance of these check points is the fact that, according to Mr. Campbell, more than 5,000 unsigned returns were returned to taxpayers in this area for signature last year. This helped hold up mailing of many eligible refunds.

GI Policyholders Get Discount For Advance Payments

Veterans holding GI life insurance policies can save time and money by paying their premiums in advance, Scott B. Harrington, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Dallas, Texas, said today.

Moreover, by paying premiums in advance, policyholders will eliminate the chance of forgetting monthly premiums, an action which might cause the policy to lapse, Mr. Harrington, said.

GI policy premiums can be paid 3, 6 or 12 months ahead through adoption of a regular quarterly, semi-annual mode of billing and payment.

Special advance payments for any period up to the full life of the policy also can be made if the policyholder desires.

GI policyholders get the benefit of a discount in the premium rate by making advance payments. Information is available at any VA contact office.

Former McKinney Man Company Commander At Fort Carson

Three new company commanders are on the job in the 47th Infantry Regiment at Fort Carson.

Capt. N. A. Majors succeeded Capt. Edward Olsen as commander of Heavy Mortar Company. Majors came to the 47th following infantry duty in Korea. A native of McKinney, Texas, he served with the famed Mars Task Force in Burma.

New commander of Company C is a former Rhodes scholar, 1st Lt. Alan Nord, who succeeds Capt. William Hutcheson. Nord's last assignment was as project of Carson's 9th Infantry Division. The South Dakotan served with the occupation Army in Italy in World War II as an enlisted man.

First Lt. Thomas Baker follows Capt. Derald Lembrich as commander of the 47th's Company L. Baker, from Ada, Okla., was assigned to the 47th at Carson after returning to active duty following a battery commander position in an Ada Army reserve artillery unit.

Majors and Baker live with their familes in Colorado Springs. Nord lives at Carson.

House Leaders Call For Tax Cut Places

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UP) — House leaders said Monday they will seek prompt action on a resolution calling on President Eisenhower to pont out places where his record peacetime $71.8 billion budget can be cut.

Speaker Sam Rayburn D-Tex. told reporters he would like to see the House Rules committee clear the resolution so it can be called up as the first item of business Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Budget Director Percival F. Brundage said there may be a big enough federal surplus for a tax cut next year if the line is held on spending. He suggested, however, that it might be better to use the surpls to reduce the nationa ldebt rathe rthan to reduce revenues.

The House Appropriations committee approved a resolution Friday throwing the budget - cutting issue back to Mr. Eisenhower. He had suggested Congress might be able to make cuts when he sent up the budget in January.

Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference Thursday that it may be possible to trim the budget by slowing down spending on various projects.

Rayburn has repected as impractical the contention of some economy advocates that the budget can be cut as much as $5 billion. He said Monday he wanted to make it clear that "I'm as much for cutting the budget as anybody — and letting the government live."

Sabre Jet Opens In New Location Near High School

Sanley Woychesin, owner of the Sabre Jet, is announcing in the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette that "we are back in the barbecue business in our new location—corner Louisiana and College Streets." The business formerly operated on the Expressway, South. The new Sabre Jet opened Tuesday in the new stand, which is across the street from the high school campus.

A barbecue pit has been built and the building remodeled and arranged to serve all kinds of sandwiches and other foods. The business is open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily.

SON FOLLOWS FATHER AS HAM RADIO OPERATOR

NUNDO, N. Y. (UP). — Mrs. Clarence Martin of Nunda has two hams cluttering up her dining room — radio hams, that is.

Mrs. Martin's husband has operated a ham radio for the past seven years, and unti lrecently he nember of his family. Then, almost overnight, 12-year-old Donald became interested in transmitting and receiving.

Donald now is the proud owner of a novice license to operate in code. His call letters are KN2-VDN.

A classmate of Donald's 11-year old Barry Watkins, also caught the radio bug and transmits over station KN2VQA.

OH, MAN! — Hold onto your hats, girls, and get a load of this men's cocktail suit, displayed by model Bill Clune at a recent Washington, D.C., style show. It has a purple coat, with charcoal flannel collar. This is worn over a silver brocade vest and mushroom-pleated shirt with lace trim. The trousers are slim and cuffless. Shoes are iridescent charcoal kidskin with purple insets to match jacket.

NEW RESIN TESTED ON COTTON FABRICS

EMERYVILLE, Calif. (UP) — Oil company scientists are pressing research on a resin aimed at giving cotton fabrics some of the same crease-proof, dirt-proof qualities as synthetics.

It is called Eponite and it was developed in the laboratories of the Shell Development Co., in this industrial suburb of Oakland.

"We think Eponite has a very good future "said Dr. Harold Gershinowitz, president of Shell Development. "It should make cotton much more competitive with synthetics, which have taken over a large part of the textile market in recent years."

Gershinowitz said one eastern uniform-maker is treating cotton cloth with this petroleum product in a full-scale test.

He said Eponite also helps cotton fabrics resist shtinkage, earing and chlorine discoloring. It costs approximately $1.25 a pound to manufacture and about one-tenth of a pound of eponite is needed per pound of cloth.

Eponite is a combination of the petrochemicals glycerine and epichlorohydrin. It is dissolved in water through which the cloth is passed. The cloth picks up the Eponite and is then heated. This makes the material water-resistant.

The petrochemicals that make Eponite have other important uses in industry, Gershinowitz said. One is as a metal-to-metal adhesive in the aircraft field. It sticks despite extreme heat, making it useful in the manufacture of planes that fly above the speed of sound and generate high temperatures.

The USS Carronade is one of the Navy's new type ships which has the latest improvements in shipboard habitability. New features include, among other things, curtains around berths for privacy, fluroescent overhead lighting, and improved eating conditions.

Another 'Quake Is Recorded

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP). — The University of California's seismographic station recorded today an earthquake at 5:52 a. m. about 3,000 miles northwest of Berkeley, "probably in the western Aleutian Islands."

Seismologist Don Tocher said the earthquake was an aftershock of Saturday morning's quake that touched off a five-hour tidal wave in Hawaii.

Tocher said the new quake had a magnitude of 7 on the Richer scael of 10.

The quake was still recording at 7:50 a. m. est.

BASKETBALL

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

Unbeaten North Carolina, the nation's No. 1 team riding a 27-game winning streak, is favored to beat Yale tonight when the NCAA basketball tournament whirls into action with a total of six games in three different cities.

Idaho State officially opened the court carnival Monday night by beating Hardin - Simmons, 68-57 in a first-rounder at Pocatello, Idaho.

• • •

Tar Heels Favored.

Here is tonight's lineup:

At New York City: North Carolina 27-0 a 13-point choice over Yale 18-7; Syracuse 16-6 favored by five over Connecticut 17-7; and West Virginia 25-4 even money against Canisius 20-5.

At Columbus, Ohio: Notre Dame 18-7 by 10 over Miami of Ohio, and Pittsburgh 15-9 even money against Morehead 19-7.

At Oklahoma City: Oklahoma City 17-8 favored by 15 over Loyola of the South 15-10.

Nine of the tornaments 23 teams, included such high-ranked powers as Kentucky and Southern Methodist, drew first-round byes and await the winners of the first-round games in four regional tournaments this weekend at Philadelphia, Lexington, Ky. Dallas, Tex., and Corvallis, Ore.

The tourney's opening game Monday night saw Idaho State pull away from Hardin - Simmons in the second half after being held to a 32-30 halftime margin.

Gerry Hicks led the winning Begals in scoring with 24 points but Carl Siemen, who had 20 despite an injured leg, shared the limelight. Idaho State qualified to meet defending champion San Francisco at Corvallis on Friday.

North Carolina, just named today as the nation's No. 1 team at the end of the regular season by the United Press Board of Coaches must add five more wins to its glittering record in order to capture the NCAA crown. If the Tar Heels can do it, they will also break the all-time colegiate record of 29 straight victories in a single season set by last year's NCAA champion, San Francisco.

The Tar Heels, led by All-American Lennie Rosenbluth and guided by "Coach of the Year" Frank McGuire, send a New York bred team familiar with the Madison Square Garden court against Yale's Ivy League Champions, whose high scorer, Johnny Lee has been ill with a virus. McGuire fears a "letdown" after Carolina's victory in the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament last weekend, and also the mounting "pressure" of the winning streak.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH NEWS

AUSTIN Tex. — Increased rain no more freezes and an early spring are welcome news to farmers and the rest of Texans.

However, Dr. Henry A. Holle, commissioner of health, warns that the abundance of rainfall and warm weather means an early attack of the yearly onslaught of flies and mosquitoes on the Texas scene.

Much sickness can be caused by these winged creatures, in addition to bringing a bothersome nuisance an unsightly conditions if the proper safeguards are not taken early enough to offset the heavy numbers expected with the coming of warmer weather.

One disease which has taken one new significance in Texas is encephalities, sometimes called "sleeping sickness." There are others.

Several outbreaks have been reported in Texas during the past few years, and scientists have shown that the main culprits are two types of mosquitoes common to Texas, the culex tarsalis and culex quinquefaciatus.

Flies, too, wreck havoc with the health of human beings, often causing dysentery and other gastrointestinal disorders.

The Texas State Department of Health recommends that steps be taken now to head off the attack of warm weather insects.

Check your garbage cans for leaks and corrosion, replace them if they are worn or damaged. Garbage cans and containers should be washed weekly to keep them clean and dry.

Always replace the lid when depositing refuse. If the lid doesn't fit, fix it or get a new one. Also, the cans should be on a concrete slab four inches high.

If a concrete slab is impractical, build a wooden stand 18 inches high. This will protect against corrosion and maurauders. A fly or mesquito will starve to death if it can't eat.

Inspect the house and grounds carefully for stagnant water catchers. Vases and flower pots inside the house are frequent offenders as are old tires, wood piles, tin cans and empty jars in the yard.

Use a god residual-type spray on all outbuildings, walls, ponds, shrubbery (use a water base spray) and septic tanks. Also clean out the weeds and close shrubbery around any ponds.

Repair worn screens and use a space spray or aerosol bomb to rid the house of flying pests, being careful to cover exposed food and eating ware.

Take these precautions now and keep them up all summer and through next fall, and the fly and mosquito population will be the only loser.

LONDON'S MODERN LOOK—This is Skyport One, a sketch of an airport conceived by James Dartford for the Glass Age Development Committee. Although designed for the London of 2000 A.D., its designer believes it could be built today. It would be located in St. George's Circus, not far from Waterloo Station and would be 500 feet tall. Planes and heli-buses would use the platform atop the three tall, glass-enclosed elevator shafts through which passengers and crew members would be carried from street level. Other features would be a sky-top restaurant with a far-reaching view of the city. The building below would house offices, hotels and auto-parking garages.

Creator Sees City He Planned Reach 25,000 Population

By CARTER BRADLEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

MIDWEST CITY, Okla (UP). —Seward H. Mott planned a city and came back after 15 years to see it finished, with 25,000 population.

"In the history of the world, few men have had this thrill. I suppose", said the 67-year-old Washington D. C. engineer after a tour of Midwest City, an incorporated suburb of Oklahoma City.

In 1942, Mott helped a local realtor, William P Atkinson lay out the plan for Midwest City. Mott, then a high official with the Federal Housin Administration, said he didn't dream he would live to see it finished. When he last came here, in 1945, Midwest City was burgeoning but far from finished.

"I believe it had about 10,000 population then" Mott said. "But now it is by far the largest community ever planned and completed under a single concept in so short a time."

Atkinson, who invited Mott back to help plan additions to the city, predicts Midwest City will be Oklahoma's third largest community within another 10 years. The nearness of Tinker Air Force base, a mammoth world-wide supply depot ,is no longer the main magnet here, Atkinson said.

22 Churches.

"We originally planned Midwest City as a town for the middle classes, with quiet streets where kids can play in safety" said Atwinson "and that is still its main appeal."

Mott, interviewew after seeing the town, said his biggest surprise was to find several neighborhoods containing homes costing from $25,000 to $35,000.

"We never figured they would be here" the planner said. "But so many advantages were included in the original plan that they found a ready sale."

Midwest City, located 12 miles southeast of Oklahoma City, was almost uninhabited prairie before Atkinson launched it as a war housing project. It now boasts 10 playgrounds, six elementary schools, a parochial school, two punior highs, a high school and 22 churches.

"Twenty-twe churces, think of that" Mott said "for people living where none lived only 15 years ago."

A new shopping center Atkinson and Mott have dreamed up will permi doubling or tripling of Midduring the coming 15 years, they west City's six-square mile" area during the coming 15 years, they predicted.

Other Projects.

"This will be a multi-million dollar project" Atkinson said. "But it doesn't mean we're abandoning our practice of locating a little grocery every half a mile. We still want a grocery, as well as a park, a church and a school, to be within walking distance of every Midwest City resident."

Mott's consultation has been a factor in the development of several cities under sponsorship of plan Fairless Hills, located near the new U. S. Steel works on the Delaware River in Pennsylvania. Fairless Hills by comparison, will have a population of 8,000 to 10,000 he said.

For New York baseball club owner Del Webb and his associates in a copper company, Mott recently laid out the San Manuel townsite in Pinal county, Arizona. Hehas had similar projects in Illinois, Kentucky, North Carolina, Georgia and California. But he said none of them matches Midwest City in rate of growth or potential.

"Here all services and amenities of a model community have been at work on a far greater scale than you will find anywere in this country" he added. "Coming back after 12 years, it's hard to believe. But here it is: I've seen it."

Amateur Junkman Reaps Nice Profit

OBERLIN, Neb. (UP). — An 80-acre juukyard turned out to be profitable for a retired farmer, C. H. Alstrom.

During the past 10 years, under constant protests of his family, Alstrom acquired every type of junk metal he could lay his hands on — from nuts and bolts to box cars.

"A true junkman collects anything and everything" Alstrom said.

"Besides" he added "I just got started and couldn't stop."

His hobby paid off recently when a Kansas City firm offered him $85,000 for his accumulation. Alstrom figured the company would realize a profit as high as $30,000 on the deal.

Among items in his horde were about 1,500 wrecked automobiles, 150 tractors, two box cars and two buses. Alstrom purchased some of the junk at sales. Much of it was brought to his farm by persons wanting to unload it.

Once when he went to town for a load of oats he spent the money for a load of junk instead. And he said he got "hail Columbia" from his family the time he purcased the seats from an old school.

The Kansas City firm figures it will take 20 men using two cranes about six weeks or longer to get the junk shipped to Kansas City.

And faced with the prospect of an empty farmyard the 69-year-old Alstrom said he planned to start all over again.

"The family isn't so angry now" he said "and I've still got a lot of junk at farms that hasn't been collected yet."

Two Specialists Will Study Yogis

LOS ANGELES (UP) — A University psychologist and a brain wave expert will conduct a six-month study of yoga in India in an attempt to determine whether there is a "third state of mind"—so-called suspended animation.

The study will seek to establish if a human being actually can shut off a portion of his brain or numb normal cellular functions at will so he feels no pain.

The investigators, UCLA psychologist Dr. Marion Wenger and a University of Michigan brain wave authority, Dr. B. K. Bagchi, said they are primarily interested in fundamental physiological changes that take place in the body, if any, during the practice of yoga.

"For hundreds of years there have been many unverified reports of the ability of Indian yogis to withdraw themselves from known manifestations of consciousness", Dr. Wenger said.

"During these self - induced 'trances' the yogis aparently approach a state that is close to suspended animation. It has been reported that their heart beat is slowed considerably and that they are abel to go for long periods without breathing."

The two investigators will use a special 78 - pound transistorized machine for their research on control of the central nervous system and involuntary responses in the mystey men such as heat action and beating. The machine is capable of recording impulses from eight different parts of the body at one time. Data will be recorded from the brain, nervous pathways, muscles and internal organs of the body.

Dr. Wenger said muscular and skin nerve cell response of the yogi's feet and other data also may be taken before and after walking barefoot on hot coals.
